IRVINE WHIPS WEST LIBERTY HERE SUNDAY

By JERRY FRANKLIN

A strong hitting Irvine team smashed out 20 hits and tallied 13 runs against three West Liberty hurlers here Sunday as they defeated the local club by a decisive 13-5 margin in a loosely played, free scoring, hitting affair.

Lefty, Walter Brown twirled the opening four rounds for the West Liberty nine but was lifted in favor of veteran Jimmy Holland in the fifth after giving up 8 hits and 7 runs. The seasoned Holland proved to be even less effective on the mound, being tagged for 8 hits and 5 runs during the next 3 frames. Richie Stacy, a young righthander, came on to finish up the West Liberty mound chores, allowing four hits and runs during the final two innings.

Shortstop Fred Blair headed the 10 hit assault on visiting hurler, J. Wolfenbarger as he connected for a home run and a single in five plate appearances.

Centerfielder Holbrook led the Irvine attack, collecting four safeties in five trips.

The defeat dropped the West Liberty team into fourth place in the Eastern Division standings with a 1-2 record. Owingsville registered their third srtaight triumph at Beattyville Sunday and continue to lead the six team loop with a perfect 3-0 slate. Irvine and Berea are tied for second place with 2-1 records while Beattyville and Winchester loom in last place having lost two without a victory.

The local nine will attempt to even their record Sunday when they battle Winchester on the latter's diamond. Other games around the circuit find Berea at Owingsville and Irvine at Beattyville.

A CIVIL WAR LETTER

Heartache of war knows no time or place as is evidenced in a letter dating back to the Civil War and recently brought to light by Leslie P. May of Woodsbend.

Back in 1863 a fond father sat down to write a letter to his soldier son away from home. By candlelight, he penned words to assure his son of the well-being of loved ones at home. And much as a devoted father today would write to a son in Korea, Caleb D. May wrote his son, William T. May, that he was greatly missed.

"William, you cannot imagine how I would like to see you at home," wrote father to son. That was February 23, 1863. And as has happened in every war since there have been wars, the father did not see his son again. Sometime after the letter was written, the son was fatally wounded. The wound, however, was not incurred on the battlefield, but was made by William May's best friend, Aaron Kid, while he was loading a gun.

Caleb May, the writer of the letter, was a grandfather of Leslie May of Woodsbend and a brother to Allen May of White Oak who was the father of the

Mary Marcene Ward

Evelyn Cole

Mary Marcene Ward

For her four years of high school Marcene maintained an average scholastic standing of 93.7. Being a talented pianist, she presented a piano solo on the commencement program.

During her high school career Miss Ward has been active in the student life of the campus. She participated in her junior class play and this past year was accompanist for the girls' senior chorus. In addition to her school activities Marcene has been a leader in the Sabbath school and Young People's organization in her church.

Evelyn Cole

Second honors at Ezel's commencement went to Evelyn Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cole of Ezel. Evelyn had an average of 93.2 for her four years of high school. This was made in spite of the fact that she had to miss over six weeks in her freshman year because of sickness in the home. At the same time it was announced that Evelyn had earned the "Scholastic E" for the year 1953-54, which means that she had the highest scholastic average in all four classes of the high school for the present year. Her average was 96.8 for the year. It was interesting to note that the next highest average for the year was made by Marcene Ward with a standing of 95.4, the fellow classmate who received first honors for the four years.

Evelyn has been a member of the high school chorus for three years. This year she did excellent work in the "Handicraft and Needlework Club" of the school.

Two Other Traffic Cases Settled Out Of Court Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Oldfield of White Oak were awarded judgment of $20,000 against Winston Owen of Pikeville in Morgan circuit court here Monday.

The case grew out of the death of Patricia Clay Oldfield, 6-year-old daughter of the plaintiffs, who was struck and killed by a car driven by Owen July 23 of last year. The accident occurred in front of the Oldfield home on U. S. 460 at White Oak.

Witnesses testified Owen was traveling at an excessive rate of speed and that skid marks showed on the pavement for 195 feet. The child was killed instantly.

Oldfields were represented by Gardner & Gabbard law firm of West Liberty and by J. Woodford Howard of Prestonsburg, great uncle of the deceased child. Atty. Dan Jack Combs of Pikeville represented the defendant. The jury deliberated about a half hour in the case.

Two other damage actions growing out of a wreck April 12 were compromised without intervention of a jury. Lon Stamper of Rexville, driver of a truck, was the plaintiff in one suit against a Mr. Gutterman of Louisville, and Charles Walter of Nickell, a passenger in Stamper's truck who was injured, was the plaintiff in the other suit.

The only other case tried Monday was an assault and battery charge against Ira Ferguson for hitting his uncle, C. R. Lacy of Insko. Ferguson pleaded guilty and was given a fine of $250.

The May term of court was adjourned at the conclusion of the Oldfield vs. Owen trial late Monday.

OBITUARY

SMITH ADAMS

Smith Adams was born Aug. 17, 1880, and died March 25, 1954. He was the son of L. C. and Cyntha Reed Adams. Smith was married to Elizabeth Loy Dec. 24, 1904. To this union were born six children Mrs. Mabel Blevins, Caney; Woodroe, Omar, W. Va.; James, Grover and Henry all of Caney; Loy, deceased.

Smith leaves three brothers—J. M. Adams, Sam and Jeff; two living sisters, Fannie Haney and Sallie Hamilton.

Smith had been a useful man in the country and a great hand to accommodate his fellowman. In order to make an honest living he had always borne his share of work. He had been a miner, farmer and team driver, worked in the log woods, etc. He never tried to acquire anything for nothing, but has always had to earn his living by the sweat of his brow. During his later years the bent posture of his body proved to his neighbors that he had worked hard through life. His honesty could not be surpassed by kings or nobles of great wealth and a writer has said that an honest man is the noblest work of God. It is needless to say that he was a great hand to aid his neighbors during sickness or death. He has gathered up men to come in and hoe out cornfields for his neighbors during sickness and death, and semed to rejoice in doing kind acts.

He loved his children and adored his grandchildren and delighted in buying them gifts because they were so near his heart. A man with a bigger and better heart has never trod the soil up and down Caney Valley than Smith Adams. He loved little children and they loved him. He has spent a great sum of money during his life in buying candy for little children. He said so many times "I love children," and proved it by his deeds of kindness. During Christmas holidays he always delighted in getting gifts for needy and afflicted people. Not many men can rejoice that they have such a charitable heart to reach down and deal out justice in such a simple manner to our children and the lowl of the earth. As Smith grew older instead of his getting selfish as many older people do, he became more kind to everyone. Though he had faults as a human does, still we cannot praise him enough for his deeds of mortal kindness. During the short time he was ill he suffered many pains but bore his affliction with patience. His greatest regrets were to leave his afflicted wife that he had watched over so closely. He had stayed by her side during her affliction as only a true loving husband could do. Business or work only called him away from her for a short while at a time. He seemed to be warned by a higher power that he must soon leave her and hated so much to leave her alone. But he said he would rather have his hope as ten thousand worlds like this one.

Today we look through a glass darkly but we are in hope that in the bright morning of eternity that we can meet with all the saints of God in everlasting immortality. Our friends fade and pass away out of sight but we trust that angels came with silent tread and carried them into the realms of bliss and they shall rest and wait in the silent halls of death through the cold storms of wintry death until the coming of the great eternal spring when they shall awake from the deep slumber of death and meet the eternal King of Kings and there we hope we shall meet Smith in that happy land where there will be no old age, no tears, no pain, no death, no sad good byes but a beautiful mansion for all the redeemed where we shall never part.

New driver comfort! New driving ease!

New Chevrolet Trucks...

do more work per day . . . more work per dollar!

You save time in traffic. New truck Hydra-Matic transmission gets you off to smooth, time-saving starts without shifting or clutching. Imagine how easy this makes driving in traffic and on delivery routes! It's optional at extra cost on ½-, ¾- and 1-ton models.

You save time on the highway. New high-compression power gets you up to highway speeds from a standing start in less time, and saves you time on hills, too. You make trips faster—and the new Comfortmaster cab makes them seem shorter. It's got everything!

You save extra trips, too. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design bodies. New pickup bodies are deeper . . . new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also, they're set lower to the ground for easier loading.

You save on operating costs. High-compression power saves you money! The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep. New Chevrolet trucks are built stronger to last longer and save you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models . . . bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models . . . stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay—and they never stop. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. And it's also the truck that has a traditionally high trade-in value.

Come in and see how much you're ahead with America's number one truck. You'll like the way we're talking business!

THE GET-ACQUAINTED TOUR

The recent Get-Acquainted Tour of sixty-six members of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce through Eastern Kentucky was a fine gesture of friendship and good will.

We feel they are our friends and not strangers. Eastern Kentuckians buy their manufactured products, read their respected Courier-Journal and many of our people go to Louisville and find employment and live. Also many Eastern Kentuckians attend state and regional association meetings in Louisville and know Louisville better than Louisville knows us. Thus, we think it was wholesome and conducive to a better understanding for the people of Louisville to come out and visit us and see the beauty of the hill country.

Every Louisville business man that we talked to while they were here expressed delight and sometimes surprise in the grandeur of the scenery of the hill section. They also learned of the fierce pride of mountain people who, despite a sick coal industry, are proud of their region.

Archie P. Cochran, president of the Louisville group, told one native, "The tremendous asset you have in this region is not coal; it's the people and their energy and determination." That statement not only shows an understanding of mountain people but also an appreciation of their qualities.

All towns on the tour welcomed the visitors with public ceremonies. We echo their spokesmen in saying, "Come again."

SCARE INQUIRIES JEOPARDIZE AMERICAN FOREIGN SERVICE

From The Courier-Journal

Should the United States establish an academy to train its professional civil servants and Foreign Service officers? Are ability and professional training as important in these fields as in the armed forces, for which the government does maintain academies at West Point and Annapolis?

For 20 years the General Federation of Women's Clubs has insisted that the answer to both questions is "yes." At its convention in Denver the first week of June the Federation will try again to adopt resolutions which will convince Congress that the need has substance.

The Federation may get a better hearing this year—from Congress and public alike—than ever before. The reason is ironic. The pattern of congressional hearings, of loyalty investigations, of whisperings and suspicion—of McCarthyism—has reduced the foreign service close to impotence and has seriously weakened the morale of the civil service generally.

This may sound like partisan generalization; it is not. In a letter to The New York Times a few months ago five former diplomats made the serious charge that the United States is "laying the foundations of a Foreign Service competent to serve a totalitarian government rather than the government of the United States as we have heretofore known it." Authors of this charge were Norman Armour, Robert Woods Bliss, Joseph C. Grew, William Phillips and C. Howland Shaw. Of these, Bliss, Grew and Phillips began their government service in the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. Armour and Shaw began while Woodrow Wilson was President. All are career diplomats. None were political appointees. All had retired long before the partisan winds of suspicion began to blow through the foreign and civil services.

The value of a Foreign Service officer is the accuracy and objectivity of reports he sends home from abroad, and any contribution he is called upon to make in policy planning. If his loyalty and integrity may be challenged out of history's handsight or out of political expediency at home his usefulness is destroyed. Reports will be bland and cautious. Fear may dictate reports colored to please domestic politicians, not to tell the vivid but perhaps unpleasant truth.

Foreign Service officers, said the five venerable diplomats, find that "an easy path has been opened up to even the anonymous informer." If it continues, the present rule of fear may "cripple the Foreign Service." We would go a step further and say it already has crippled the service, seriously.

George F. Kennan, this nation's ablest expert on the Soviet Union and former Ambassador to Moscow, is out of the State Department now. As early as February 21, 1953, he warned in a speech at Princeton that rule-by-investigation jeopardizes the position of the professional civil servant by making him vulnerable to "some of the most severe strains and tensions our society knows." He said the "sudden impact of the hideous problem of disloyalty" was "whipping our established institutions about like trees in a storm." A month earlier he had said at Scranton, Pennsylvania, that unchecked inquiries into the loyalty of federal employees plays "very dangerously into the hands of the Kremlin because the Communists can have anyone removed from government service by spreading false rumors."

Officers of the armed services protect this nation during war. Maintaining the peace is no less important to national security. This is the field of the Foreign Service officer. We are inviting disaster if we let foggy domestic political climate envelop him in his foreign post so that he cannot see.

IN MEMORY OF

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perkins

Years of sacrifice, little of play,
Loving, giving, smoothing the way
Gentle, unselfish, a friend ever true,
Our dearest possession, Mother and Dad, was you.
Oh, dear familiar yesterday
Oh, sad and strange today
Yet who would call the glad soul back
To rouse the resting clay.
Or who would wish that you might know
Our morrow's pain and strife
When you who so long lived
At last have entered life.
God bless you, Mother, in your grave,
God keep you in His care,
And may He listen to my heart
And hear my fervent prayer.
I pray that you are safe with Him for all eternity
And He will bless you for your love, for all our family.
May you have peace and rest at last
From every care and woe
And may you sleep in comfort from the wind and rain and snow.
God bless you for your smiling lips and all you tried to do
To bring us happiness on earth come true.

—A Daughter, Tishia

IN MEMORY OF

Roy Charles

He suffered patiently and long
His hope was bright, his faith was strong
The peace of Jesus filled his breast
And in His arms he sank to rest.
He had a nature you could not help loving
A heart that was full of pure gold
And to those who knew him and loved him
This memory will never grow old.
'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again
Where troubles are no more
And that the one I loved so well
Has just gone on before.
I miss him when I need a friend
On him I always could depend
He cheered me in sickness and sorrow and pain
God grant some day we will meet again.
How we have missed you, Roy dear. May the coming of Jesus be soon, then we shall be together again.

—MOTHER

IN MEMORY OF

Linda Joan Hall

The years have passed one by one
Till now it is number six
The thought of you still lingers
In our memories.
We are sad within our memory
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
Like a flash God came and took her
Offered us a comforting hand
Will we ever know the reason
Yes, some day we'll understand.
These are things death cannot sever,
Age, tears, pain nor cruel care
Can harm her or enter memory's hall,
She that we loved, beautiful and fair
From life's dangers now secure is she
Lovely she was, lovely she shall always be.

late Tom May of Woodsbend and a grandfather of Earl May of West Liberty. Caleb, who lived at White Oak, was a Union sympathizer and a Democrat, according to Mrs. Leslie May who remembers the family's history.

Caleb's wife, Louisa (pronounced Lou-eezie) Wells, had a twin sister whose name was pronounced Lou-eye-zee. The two sisters are remembered as "tiny and pretty as a picture" and spoke to each other as "Ede" and "Ide." Ide Wells married Raney Carter.

Caleb and Ede had four children, two sons and two daughters: William, Benjamin, Lou J., (or Lou-eye-zee, named for her Aunt Ide), and Elizabeth.

The letter written by Caleb May to his son follows:

Morgan County, Ky.
Feb. 23rd, 1863

Dear Son it is with great pleasure that I seat myself down this night by the light of a candle to drop you a few lines to inform you that we are all well at this time, hoping these few lines reach you in safety and find you enjoying the same good blessing. I have nothing of importance to wright to you. Things are rather peacable here at this time. There are no troops near us that I know of. Times are very hard here and grain scare. We have had a tolerable bad winter here particular the latter part of it. We have a heap of snow and rain. William, I received a letter from you dated the 26 of Nov., also one dated the 28 of Dec. also one dated the 19 of Jan, all giving great satisfaction to hear that you was well. I sent a letter to you dated the 1st of Feb. 1863 by Mr. Baum & your Mother sent you a pair of socks & Elizabeth sent you a pair of Tuft mittens. I also sent a letter dated the 7 of Feb. I also sent a letter dated the 20 of Feb. by Mr. Achison. I want (you) to wright to me as soon as you can get an opportunity of sending & write whether you received any of those letters or not. William, you could not imagine how I would like to have you at home. This neighborhood is generally in good health. I havent much time to wright and hoping that you receeived the letters. I will not wright much this time, no more at present. but remain your affectionate Father until Death.

from C. D. May to William T. May

It is presumed that the letter was among the personal effects of William at the time of his death and was returned to his family along with other belongings. William was buried in Virginia.

IN MEMORIAM

In affection memory of my dear husband, Col. Milton H. Taulbee. How short is the road from yesterday to today, yet how much can one suffer in two short years.

Mutty Dear:

Each morning when I wake I say
"I place my hand in God's today."
I know he'll walk close by my side—
My ever wandering step to guide.
He leads me with the tenderest care,
When paths are dark and I despair—
No need for me to understand,
If I but hold fast to His hand.
My hand in His, no surer way
To walk in safety through the day,
When at day's end I seek my rest
And realize how much I'm blessed,
My thanks pour out to Him, and then
I place my hand in God's again."

With this thought in mind, I have been able to cary on—you're gone, dear, but not forgotten.

Devotedly,
Bess.

POWER COMPANY CHANGES NAME

Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company, Incorporated, is changing its name to Kentucky Power Company. R. E. Doyle, vice president and general manager of the company, announced today that the name change is effective June 1.

Doyle said, "Only the name of our company is being changed. There is no change in the company's corporate structure, its personnel, its policies or its services."

He pointed out that the name Kentucky Power Company, in addition to being shorter, more clearly indicates the area in which the utility operates. The company operates in 17 counties in Eastern Kentucky. "We do not serve any part of West Virginia," he added.

The old name came into existence in the early 1920's when electric service was being developed along the Kentucky and West Virginia borders. In those days, the company served not only parts of eastern Kentucky, but also some areas along the Tug River in West Virginia.

Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company was bought by the American Gas and Electric Company in 1922. Service was extended to other areas in Eastern Kentucky with the acquisition of other small plants and companies.

In 1926, when American Gas and Electric formed Appalachian Electric Power Company, the area served by the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company in West Virginia became a part of Appalachion. It was in that same year that the Boyd County Electric Company, serving Ashland, became a part of the Kentucky and West Virginia Company.

Kentucky Power Company, which serves 89,000 customers in Eastern Kentucky, is one of seven operating companies forming the American Gas and Electric System. It is interconnected with two of its sister companies, Appalachian and The Ohio Power Company.

We're changing our Name...

Starting June 1, your electric company will have a new name. It's a shorter, easier name, and one that better describes the area we serve. The new name is Kentucky Power Company.

Our old name, you see, dates 'way back to the early days of electricity along the Kentucky-West Virginia border, when we served customers in both states. Today we serve a great many more, but now (as for some time, in fact) they're all in Kentucky.

Everything else about your electric company remains the same—our corporate structure, our personnel, our policies, and our efforts to give you the best electric service possible. The name change has no effect on obligations or agreements entered into under the former company name.

We continue, of course, to be a part of the American Gas and Electric System, bringing to our 89,000 customers the advantages of interconnection with the 7-state AGE power network.

In short, under the new name, the same people will continue to provide you with the same dependable electric service they've brought you for years as the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company, Inc.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION

I wish to thank my friends, members, directors and employees of the Licking Valley Rural Electric Cooperative for their loyal support and cooperation while I was employed by the cooperative. It was my pleasure to be connected with the cooperative nearly twelve years; the last eight being in the managerial capacity. During these years the cooperative grew from 89 miles of line to over 1400 with nearly 6,000 members now receiving central station power in six counties.

For several years the cooperative struggled hard to meet its financial obligations and continue to expand into areas where electric service was vitally needed. Today the Licking Valley Cooperative is one of the strongest in the State. It has a reserve built up including prepayment of $115,256.00 to R.E.A. and its current revenues will adequately amortize the loans from the U.S. government. Last year's operating margin of $44,743.00 indicates the healthy position that the system has obtained. This margin is set up as a capital credit prorated to each members. Recently we heard a rumor being circulated that a rate increase was anticipated. Nothing is farther from the truth than this rumor. It is false and without any foundation what so ever. Your rate will be lowered at the earliest date permitted by the R.E.A. in Washington. Your directors have and will continue, I am sure, to keep a vigil eye on the operations of the system always keeping in mind the welfare of the membership as a whole.

Respectfully,
FRED ROSE

FISHING - - NEWS - -

Bernard Whitt, Fishing Editor

FETCH A LANTERN!

Norman Allen In
Floyd County Times

Bernard Whitt, who has been assigned the nigh-untenable post of fishing editor of The Licking Valley Courier at West Liberty, is having his troubles. What makes the job all the tougher is that this man Whitt wants "just the facts," and is getting mighty little cooperation from the fishermen.

Our friend Whitt has been fishing too long to go looking for any such Waltonian rainbow's-end; he should know better. One reader, a Mr. Paul E. Williams, probably saved him from turning into a modern Diogenes by reminding him:

"Since there are no by-laws a fisherman must abide by, we cannot question a man's integrity in reporting his catch; if he can live with his true or false reporting, so can we. Who are we to judge?"

We echo—Who, indeed?

Now, I don't propose to join Brother Whitt in a chase of the will-o'-the wisp, but I am a mite curious to know the truth, if any, of this statement appearing in his column last week which has to do with Charles Goble, formerly of The Times force:

"Charley Goble, Austin Hill and Chalmer Allen went fishing at Norris Lake last Friday. Chalmer says he caught seven of the 12 fish landed. Charles caught five of the others and Austin caught six."

Or shall we all take refuge behind the Fifth Amendment and refuse to incriminate ourselves

One of Norman Allen's good friends, who is a prominent attorney, overheard Mr. Allen and Judge Hill talking about fishing the other day. Norman was telling about fishing in Dewey Lake and that two large bass hit his fishing plug at the same time, one going one way and one the other and that he finally reeled both to shore. It seems that the line he was using was a double affair and it split apart.

Dear Mr. Whitt:

I am one of the native of Gordon Ford and I've been following your story about the Big Fish. Well, it's true because there are two men out here from Paintsville, and they got a hold of him the other night and he pulled one of them out of boat and turned the boat over. If you were to come out and talk to them you could get a better story from them. One that was pulled from the boat weighed 235 lbs. These two men say that they have caught fish that weighed over 100 lbs. but never one like this. And they're still trying to catch him.

A FRIEND

State Trooper Charles Hackney arrested a man in his car, drunk near Ezel the other night and the man claimed he was going fishing. We think that fishermen should be careful and have no smell of liquor on them as there are fellows who claim to be fishermen that are not. Let's keep our profession on a truthful high plane. Further, Trooper Hackney and Unlertaker Mitchell of West Liberty were returning from taking two patients to the narcotic hospital about 2 a.m. the other morning and arrested three men in a car drunk near Mt. Sterling and one of the men had fishhooks in his pocket claiming that he was going fishing.

Fishing Editor:

Looks like your worries are over. Jo Allen has caught the Big One. That is the first thing I thought when I saw my Sunday paper. On second look I found this was an Oregon fish. The only thing it could be is a mate to the big one. We have ours and now we will be watching your paper to see when some one there lands its mate. Better make it fast or it is likely to find some way to get out here.

OREGON SPORTSMAN

(Fishing Editor's note—It has long been the policy of this paper never to publish letters unless the writer signs his name, but since the above touches on a subject worthy and honest, we know the writer is reliable. He even sent along with his letter a picture of an Oregon fish. True, it was at least three times the size of the man, but it was a drawing. And the artist, like some photograph makers, drew the picture big and way up close and he drew the man little and way back. It looked to be a large sun fish perhaps.)

Earl Murphy bought a tennis net the other day in Dayton. He thought it was a minnow seine. It is now in his store.

Charles Price, Jasepr Dennis and Edgar Dennis fished at Lake Cumberland over the week end. Jasper has been telling that he caught twelve fish and the others caught none and that Charles and Edgar turned his fish back. Charles and Edgar said they turned back 12 minnows they thought Jasper was using for bait.

Mart Ison told Ned Jenia that he does not believe the fish stories. Ned said he caught a 10 inch water dog.

FLORRESS—

AN HONEST FISHERMAN?

FLORRESS, Ky., May 25—(By Nora Easterling)—I would love to encourage our fishing editor, that there are a few fishermen who don't tell tall stories about their catch. Rev. Walter Easterling, Sammie Nickell and Don C. Lemaster are our noted fishermen here at Florress. So far, they have been very honest about their luck. Rev. Easterling has brought in 72 fish including cats, sundads, silversides, suckers and bass. He had the luck of one blue cat fish about 22 inches in length being a little too quick for him. He slid in the river with the fish, but came out winner? Sammie and Don haven't reported the number of fish they have caught, but I feel sure they will be truthful. I would love to ask all fishermen to look a fish in the eye for a few days and see if they would kill it. I tried it and I didn't kill it. I set it free.

Rev. E. T. Nickell has just now asked me to report that the home coming has been called off at the Lacey Creek church for this year.

Mrs. Dorsie Franklin of West Liberty and Mrs. J. V. Henry of Cottle were visiting Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Easterling and Dora and Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Williams and Leova May 16.

Our community is proud of our three girls who graduated at M.C.H.S. this year—Misses Bonnie Mae Haney, Leova Williams and Phyllis Ann Hall.

Revs. Charles Frederick from Cottle and J. K. Bolin filled their regular appointment at Lacey Creek church Saturday night and Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Easterling, Rev. Walter Johnson attended church at Cow Branch Sunday and were dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Liddie V. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adkins and James P. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson prepared a good chicken dinner which we enjoyed very much.

Mrs. Naomi Conley of Matthew and Monie Ferguson of Index spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. James C. Conley. Mrs. Conley is visiting this week with her niece Aura Mae Johnson and family.

John Walles Pelfrey of Ashland visited home folks here this week end and attended church at Lacey Creek.

Aunt Mary McGuire is ill.

Mrs. J. K. Bolin is much improved and attended church Sunday.

Rev. Robert McClure of West Liberty and Rev. Arlie Nickell closed a two weeks revival here Sunday night.
